CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

EVER BROUGHT TO THIS CITY.

—DON'T FAIL TO EXAMINE THEM BEFORE MAKING YOUR FINAL SELECTION.—

The New Orleans Exposition opens on Tuesday.

The police caught a gang of about a dozen negro boys playing conks in an empty box car on the switch above the tunnel Saturday morning and arrested the whole party.

The supper given by the ladies of the Baptist Church at the Court House Tuesday night was a perfect success. The attendance was large, and the receipts amounted to $130.

Judge W. L. Jeff left Thursday for New Orleans to be present at the opening of the Great Exposition. He took along an exhibit of Brennon water, which will be kept on 'up there during the winter.

Mr. Chas. W. Saffell has purchased of his grandfather, Mr. Jas. Saffell, sr., his farm of 50 acres, on the Law reneburg pike, about a mile from the city, and will go largely into the dairy and market gardening business.

Rev. Dr. J. M. Lewis returned Monday afternoon from Winchester, where he has been holding a meeting for the past two weeks with the Baptist Church in that city. The result was eight additions to the Church.

Mr. Richard Morris, of Spring Hill, has placed us under obligations for a basket of fresh lettuce grown by him this fall. It was as crisp and tender and the heads as large as any spring lettuce we have ever seen, and was of a splendid flavor.

An effort is being made to organize an electric light company in this city. A number of our business men have signified their willingness to take stock in the enterprise, and the projectors are receiving great encouragement from our citizens generally.

Henry Finney, the colored boy who was arrested in Chicago some time ago, on the charge of robbing Messrs. Wakefield & West's cash drawer, brought to this city and discharged by the examining court, was re-arrested on Wednesday and lodged in jail, an indictment having been found against him by the last grand jury for the same offense.

Master Carroll Walcutt was wrestling with a playmate on the pavement in front of Von Lueden's European Hotel Saturday morning, when his right foot turned under him and he fell, spraining his foot and breaking one of the small bones of the ankle. Dr. Jas. Ely was called and reduced the fracture, and the little fellow is getting along about first rate, though will hardly be able to enjoy any of the Christmas fun.

Messrs. S. Fuhs & Bro. have purchased a lot on the corner of Wilkinson and Clinton streets and erected upon it a nice large store-room, with a residence of four rooms above, and will to-day open a first-class grocery and confectionery at that point. The building is quite an ornament to that part of the city, the carpenter's work being executed under the supervision of Mr. John Whitehead, while Mr. Chas. Bassen had the contract for the painting, both of whom did themselves great credit. Read Messrs. Fuhs' advertisement in another column.

An elegant entertainment was given Messrs. P. J. Parker and John A. Brislan, at Weltzel's Hall, on Tuesday evening, by their young friends in this city, on the eve of their departure for Florida. The company consisted of about thirty couples, and the early part of the evening was spent in dancing, delightful music being furnished by Prof. Wayland Graham. At eleven o'clock all were invited to partake of an elegant supper, which was served by Mr. Jerome Weltzel, Jr. As Messrs. Parker and Brislan entered the dining room Mr. C. E. Collins, who presided at the supper, addressed them as follows:

Young friends:

We have requested your presence here to-night that we might, in a feeble manner, express to you the high esteem and regard in which we hold you. Would that I were able to command language sufficient to express the sentiments of each heart here to-night. Had I this gift, I am sure that history describes in a character more exalted than I would picture.

It seems to be our nature, that when surrounded by blessings, or when in the possession of valuable gifts, we do not stop to think of their worth in the fullness of enjoyment which they confer upon us, it is only when they are about to be snatched from us that we truly realize their value.

Dear friends, you have been reared among us, we have known you from your childhood, we have been idled with your sunny smiles, we have every day of your past life felt the sunshine of your presence in our midst. We have witnessed your integrity, and have known your worth. It is only now, when you are on the eve of leaving your friends from us, that we truly realize how much we have loved you, and how greatly you will be missed. Although we are loath to give you up, we applaud the manly ambition which prompts you to tear asunder the ties which bind you to the happy home of your childhood, to battle with the world in a strange land. We are comforted with the thought that in whatever land, or in whatever clime you may choose to direct your steps, you are well equipped for that noble fight. You possess, in a abundantly, the qualities which will enable you not only to leadership in the land of your adoption, but you will be an ornament to whatever society you may enter. Were you less fitted for your undertaking we would be more loath to give you up. Since you are resolved to go, we say may joy go with you, and when you shall have fulfilled your mission, when you shall have realized the fullness of your ambition, should you desire to return to your old friends, be assured you will be received with open arms and with joyful hearts. Until then we shall bid you a God speed in the land of your destination, and may your path be all sunshine and ever strewn with the most fragrant flowers.

To which Mr. Parker responded as follows:

My dear friends and associates:

We cannot find words to express our gratitude to you, one and all, for this mark of esteem you have tendered us to-night on the eve of our departure for our distant Sunny Southern Home. It is indeed gratifying to us to see that we have many friends, to know that when we are gone we will not be forgotten, again, from the bottom of our hearts, for all you have done for us, each and every one separately.

If we never meet again on this frail earth, may we all meet in Heaven, that land God has created for us all.

Speeches were also made by Mr. Jas. McAniff and others.

Altogether the evening was an exceedingly pleasant one, and was greatly enjoyed by all present, notwithstanding the bad words good-bye were soon to be spoken.

TWO PLUCKY WOMEN.

Who Took Matters into Their Own Hands and Came Out Ahead

Conley's (Norwich, Conn.) Weekly.

"If there were any gentlemen in this car," exclaimed a pretty little woman with black eyes and of lady-like appearance, in a street car the other day, "they would not allow this brute of a drunkard to annoy me. I'd like to be his wife for half an hour, I'd dress him down!"

Cowed by her justifiable anger, the grunted, well-dressed delinquent went out upon the platform. The little lady quickly sprang to the door, leaped herself against it, and cried out, "Now come in if you can!" And he did not come in!

The habit of independence should be cultivated whenever possible, and exercised whenever necessary for the maintenance of personal rights. It requires a deal of pluck for a woman to do this, but it pays every time. We were forcibly impressed with this fact by a conversation had last week with Mrs. S. A. Clark, of East Granby, Conn.

Many a woman, pursued by a revengeful foe, will appreciate what she

For over ten years, on every possible occasion, and chiefly when she was least on her guard, a mysterious enemy made covert assaults upon her.

An open foe she says she could meet; but an ambushed enemy was horribly exasperating. She called to her aid the wisest and most discreet friends she had.

She expended all the money she could spare to detect and disarm him. But she could not succeed and was worried to distraction.

A daughter residing in Iowa was sent for to comfort her in her anxiety. When she learned what her mother had suffered, with true Western pluck, she told her that she must take courage, do as she told her, and she would triumph over her foe. For ten long years she had been annoyed, and at last back came the headache, the trifling spinal weakness, hot heat, cold hands and feet told her that the effort was getting fatal. Her health and spirits finally broke down under the strain, and in 1875 she suffered untimely torture for several months from inflammation of the bladder. In 1878, renal hemorrhage and gravel, with frequent attacks of chills and fever, overcame her. Her sufferings she says surpassed description. Finally her stomach refused all solid food, and for a month she lived on a teaspoonful of milk three times a day. Nervous prostration ensued. Sleep was impossible. Walking was out of the question, and in despair of relief, she took to her bed expecting to die. She tried every reputable school of physicians, who agreed that she had a combination of desperate diseases common to women in middle life. While treating one the others grew worse.

Six weeks from the time she took her daughter's advice and disbursed her expensive and useless professional attendants, she resumed her place at the table and from that day to this has been in sound and satisfactory health, which she attributes entirely to the use of Warner's Safe Cure. All her ailments were caused by infection of the kidneys and a poisoned state of the blood produced by that infection. This was her secret history.

"If I were rich," she exclaimed to the reporter, "I would give that preparation to every suffering woman, for I am certain from my own bitter experience, that renal disorders and poisoned blood are the source of the many constitutional complaints to which women are subject."

Mrs. Clark is a very estimable lady, who is to be congratulated on having so effectively routed an enemy which for so many years implacably and pitilessly pursued her. Other ladies would take the same course they would not be subject to these secret foes.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.

Editor and Publisher.
FRANKFORT, DECEMBER 15, 1884.

Mr. Minus Williams alone has the contract for putting up the stone abutments for the dam at Lock No. 5, and not Messrs. I. & M. Williams as was stated last week.

The Midway Clipper says Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Newell, of that place, are coming to this city to open a boarding-house.

Capt. Sam. Goin says this is the best time in the year to set out shade trees, and he has a thousand nice young maples in his nursery.

John J. Cornellison, the Mt. Sterling lawyer who cowhided Judge Richard Ridd of the Superior Court, "nursing him to commit suicide, whose trial has been going on at Mt. Sterling for the past week, was sentenced by the court on Wednesday to three years' confinement in jail.

Reuben R. Springer, Esq., Cincinnati's wealthy business man and philanthropist, who died in that city on Wednesday, was born in this city in 1800. He had given in the last 9 years $310,500 to Music Hall, College of Music and other public institutions in that city.

Roll of honor for Stella E. Gohers' room for week ending Dec. 12th:

Annie Abraham 600, Louie Bruce 600, Minnie Bailey 600, Lottie Evans 600, Flossie French 600, Annie Magill 600, Nora Magill 600, Eva Macklin 600, Frances Wallace 600, Lindsey Blaney 600, Emma Wright 508, Cule Moyers 508, Lilla Hughes 508, Lucy Hughes 508, Bonnie Hockessmith 508, George Payne 508, John Bull 508, Jimmie Roberts 508, Sadie Grant 508, Agnes Sawyer 508, Virgie Nelson 508, Frank Kavanaugh 504.

The city election passed off so quietly Saturday that unless a person knew it was going on he would never have discovered it, unless he accidentally walked right up to the polls; but now that it is over the successful candidates are being elected, and by the candidates for the positions to be filled by them far more than they expected for themselves. The following gentlemen were elected: First Ward—E. H. Taylor, Jr., Minus Williams and Richard Tobin. Second Ward—L. Mangan, R. C. Church and Jerry Brislin. Third Ward—Thos. B. Ford, Richard Ferguson and L. Toldn.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday morning the grocery of Messrs. H. Stubenrauch & Co., on the corner of Washington and Mero streets, was entered by a thief and all the change left in the cash drawers, amounting to five dollars in nickels, carried off. An entrance was effected by cutting a slit out of one of the shutters of a window on the side of the house next to Washington street, opening them and raising the window. In getting out of the window he dropped two dollars of the money on the pavement, where it was found after day-light. One of the cash drawers was carried several squares and thrown into the street when emptied of its contents.

Pope's Theatre was opened yesterday by Jackson's Skeletal Club, "Edith's Burial" and "Combustion." It was forced, and the result was most gratifying to the audience, which were large and appreciative. In the first place the organization is unique. There is nothing like it in this or any other country within hearing of the telegraph or telephone. It has made and contains within itself its own success. The members of the club have written its plays—Messrs. Gus Thomas and Edgar Smith, authors and actors—and they act in them. They have also had the good sense to select people best qualified for other parts necessary to a complete entertainment. They owe nothing to anybody excepting for a few musical life which came in as specialties. Altogether, this is a good, clean, bright, talented company, and the Jackson's Skeletal Club offers what is its own. It deserves success for talent and honesty.—St. Louis Republic.

The above company will appear at the Opera House this evening at 8 o'clock. Reserved seats for sale at Barrett's.

In our notice last week of the shipments of whisky from this point we should have said 800 barrels per week instead of per month.

Mr. Saint C. J. Page, of Scott county, formerly of this city, captured the premium of $500 offered by the Scott County Tobacco Fair Association for the best sample of tobacco raised in the new district including about ten counties.

To the Memory of Mrs. R. E. Collins.

Although we gave her back to dust,
With aching hearts and weeping eyes,
We know her spirit left its shell
To our triumph-battle on the skies.
She was a neighbor kind and true,
A mother fond, a faithful wife,
And nearly fifty years she trod
The pathway to eternal life.

Four children sigh, "Our mother's gone!"
And wipe away the fall's a tear,
Four angels shout with glad acclaim,
"Oh, joy! Our darling in 'ther's here!"

Another spirit joins the throng,
And gladly sings, "Oh, welcome wife,
Companion of my earthly joy!
New partner of my heavenly life!"

We leave her to eternal bliss,
Children, lift up your tear wet eyes,
And follow in the Savior's steps
To meet your mother in the skies!

Mrs. W. LEWIS COLLINS.

Obituary.

Little Evans, infant son of Oscar and Mary Hales, after a severe illness from him at his birth, passed away, on the 22d of Oct. her, aged 3 months and 11 days, to a brighter and far better life above such a sweet angelic soul, the angel would not pass it by, but picked and transplanted it to bloom in the immortal realm of Paradise. There no sin or death ever brought about sorrow. Too refined for earth soil for her home, forever to dwell with him in the bright realm of bliss, where the shades of night are not known.

Blessed be the little angel babe, with eyes of azure blue, which can never awake to cheer the grief-stricken parents, again on earth, but can greet them with a song of joy and gladness in Heaven.

The writer, and many others, extend their most heartfelt sympathy to the sad, bereaved father and mother in their deep affliction.
